Social Host – Liability & Coverage Issues

1.0 RICLE credit

ERIC B. DIMARIO, ESQ. Kiernan, Plunkett & Redihan

This seminar will discuss the evolution of social host liability in Rhode Island and discuss circumstances which may lead to liability and the notable, and sometimes surprising, differences found in the laws of neighboring states. It will also examine the ways in which homeowner's insurance coverage has changed and the effect of these changes on potential defendants in social host actions. If you are out of town and your 18 year old son or daughter calls to tell you that they had some friends over, there was drinking, and things got a little out of hand, this seminar will help you answer two important questions: Are we liable? Are we covered?

Who's Entitled to It?

1.0 RICLE credit

SPEAKER

MICHAEL B. MELLION, ESQ. Fidelity National Title Insurance Co.

Real estate transactions can be difficult enough without the added complications of dealing with the estate of a deceased seller or a trustee holding title.

This session provides an overview of how title to real estate passes upon death, either by devise under a Will or by intestate succession. The speaker also discusses how to determine the validity of a trust under Rhode Island law, how title should be conveyed to and from a Trustee, the powers that a Trustee has to deal with real estate, and the necessity of recording the trust agreement or an Affidavit or Memorandum of Trust.
